Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJIAA). "NJIAA study guides" and "NJIAA lockable study guide" are the...Field of the Invention Embodiments of the present invention generally relate to a method and apparatus for identifying an object associated with a user and, more particularly, to a method and apparatus for identifying a handheld electronic device associated with a user. Description of the Related Art

Recently, handheld electronic devices, such as smart phones, are being carried by a user and used to communicate with others. The handheld electronic devices are frequently used on public transit (e.g., buses, subways, trains, etc.) and a commuter may leave his or her handheld electronic device on a table or in a bag, which causes problems, such as the data or information on the handheld electronic devices being accessed by others. One solution that has been offered is that the user has to have the user's handheld electronic device on him or her when he or she goes to sleep. This is cumbersome and does not allow a user to operate his or her handheld electronic device to utilize the device as a user may need to, for example, have a text or e-mail. What is needed is a method and apparatus for identifying an object associated with a user that overcomes the limitations described above.How to Make
